

Keep kids safe in the car.

When you get in the car, before you put your seatbelt on, there's something to think about first and that's the kids. Before every drive children must be secured correctly in the right capsule or seat for their age. Keep kids safe in the car – it's a job for all of us.

From 1 July 2010, drivers must ensure that children in the car are:

- buckled up in an approved child restraint until 7 years
- wearing a correctly fitted and adjusted seat belt when over 7 years
- not in the front seat of a vehicle that has two or more rows of seats, unless all the other back seats are occupied by children who are also under 7 years
- not in load areas like boots and utes.

Fines and demerit point penalties apply. Children need to be kept safe in different restraints as their bodies grow. To ensure the safety of your child and to comply with the law, children must be restrained correctly at all times using the restraint that best matches the size of the child's body.

When choosing a suitable restraint for your child you need to ensure that it is approved to the Australian Standard AS1754. An approved child restraint is easily identified by the certification mark shown here

Seat belts & pregnancy

Pregnant women must wear seat belts too

- Wearing your seatbelt properly means you and your unborn child are less likely to be hurt in a crash.
- Put the seatbelt across your body.
- The sash part of your seatbelt should pass above the stomach and between the breasts.

- Keep the lap part of the seatbelt as low as possible – underneath your baby.

MR1361 06/10

Birth to 6 months

Rearward facing baby capsules

- Capsules have 2 parts – the basket and the capsule base.
- Put the baby capsule in the middle of the back seat or the left passenger seat if possible.
- Put the base in the vehicle and feed the seatbelt through the correct path.

- Buckle in the seatbelt and pull tight.
- Put your baby in the basket – the basket can be lifted out of the capsule base.
- Put the straps over your baby's shoulders, making sure that they come from above the shoulders.
- Firmly buckle your baby into the basket.
- Put the basket in the capsule base with the baby facing the back seat.
- Connect the top strap to the car's anchor point.
- Don't over tighten.
- Never use the basket as a baby bed.

6 months to 4 years

Rearward or forward facing child safety seat with an inbuilt harness

- Put the safety seat in the middle of the back seat or the left passenger seat if possible.
- Hold the safety seat down to the car using the seatbelt and the safety seat's top strap.
- All straps need to be firm.

- Make sure the shoulder straps are either above or level with your child's shoulders – there are holes to help you do this.
- The straps need to be level with or sit above the shoulders, but never below.
- Buckle the harness and make sure the straps fit firmly.
- Make sure that your child grows out of the safety seat before moving to a booster seat.

4 to 7 years

Safety seats or booster seats with lap-sash belts or harness

Booster seat with seatbelts

- Make sure the top part of the seatbelt is on the child's shoulder (not on their neck) and the bottom part is on the child's lower hips/upper thighs.
- The seatbelt straps have to be firm.
- Never use a booster seat with a lap-only seatbelt.
- Always use the seatbelt guides provided on the booster.

Booster seat with child safety harness

- Attach the harness to the car's anchor bolt.
- Attach the gate slide low down on the seatbelt and put seatbelt through the harness loops.
- Tighten the lap part of the belt so that it fits firmly across the hips (not over the stomach area).
- Once the seatbelt is adjusted take the slack out of the shoulder straps so they are firm, but not too tight.

7 years & older

Keep children safe after they outgrow booster seats

- Keep children in booster seats for as long as possible.
- Children who have outgrown their booster seat may now be able to use a properly fitted and adjusted adult seatbelt. If not, it may be possible to purchase a larger or taller booster.

- A lap-sash seatbelt gives better protection than a lap-only seatbelt. Only use a lap-only seatbelt if all lap-sash seatbelts are in use.
- If the child is under 32 kg a child safety harness can be used on a lap-only belt to make it safer.

Seatbelts

- Make sure the top part of the seatbelt is on the child's shoulder (not on their neck) and the bottom part is on the child's lower hips/upper thighs. The child's legs should be long enough to bend over the front of the vehicle seat. If not, they may need to be moved back into a booster.
- The seatbelt straps must be firm.

Keep kids safe in the car.

- If a lap-only seatbelt is the only seatbelt available, use it with a harness to make it as safe as possible.

Harness

- Attach the harness to the car's anchor bracket.
- Put the lap belt through the harness.
- Tighten the lap part of the belt so that it fits firmly across the hips (not over the stomach).
- Once the seatbelt is adjusted take the slack out of the shoulder straps so they are firm, but not too tight.

Anchor Points

Anchor points are places in a car where a child restraint anchor bolt can be fitted for attaching a child restraint. Sometimes they may be hidden under carpet, or in the ceiling. Look in your car's handbook to find out where the points are.
